BEATTIE'S STORY OF WIFE'S MURDER

Accused Battled Six Hours to Save His Own Life.

CROWD STARED AS HE TALKED

Defendant Stuck to Former Story That Bearded Highwayman Murdered His Wife—Detailed His Association With Binford.

Chesterfield Court House, Va., Sept. 3.—Through six weary hours in a crowded and stuffy court room, Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., indicted for the murder of his wife, battled for his life today. Evening shadows alone interrupted a vigorous cross-examination by the Commonwealth, Judge Watson ending the ordeal by adjourning court at an arlier hour until tomorrow at 9:15 A. M., when Prosecutor Wendenburg will continue his rapid-fire of questions.

A lone figure was Young Beattie in the crowd that surrounded him on all sides, even the windows and trees commanding the court room being thick with staring faces. And the prisoner sat for hours, his manner cool and collected, unfolding the sordid details of his relations with Beulah Binford, a 17 year old girl, for whom the prosecution alleges Beattie killed his bride of a year. But not alone the orgies of the four years before his marriage and those that preceded the tragedy but the gruesome tale of the attack by the highway man, the wild ride to the Owen home at a speed of 55 miles an hour with the lifeless, blood covered body of his wife in the machine beside him, was given the jury all in its horrible detail.

The prisoner by request of the prosecution, even stood up to full length and denied the blood stained coat that he wore the night of the murder and attempted to explain why blood had not flecked certain portions of the garment of his wife was reclined against it in the way he described.

The clothes of the dead woman had been burnt just before the arrest of Beattie and as more than once there was occasion to refer to them, Prosecutor Wendenburg exclaimed: "I wish to God we had them here."

It was a day of extreme solemnity in the court. The accused sat in an arm chair, his head often resting on one hand while with the other he rubbed a knotted handkerchief over his pale and perspiring face. In the bar sat his brother Douglas, and his white haired father, the latter at times covering his wrinkled countenance with a fan as some particularly loathsome details were recorded by the son. But when the end of the day came, the father as usual bent over the prisoner affectionately and kissed him.

Beattie answered questions in an even voice and without emotion. Except for the nervous figuering of his handkerchief and the characteristic vibration of the muscles in his cheeks, he sat like a school boy expressionless as he narrated the story of the crime. In no essential did the prisoner's version of the affair today differ from that which he gave at the coroner's inquest or from that to which defense through its witnesses hitherto has clung The direct examination lasted only two and a half hours while the cross-examination had proceeded three and a half hours when court adjourned for the day.

The prosecution in its cross examination gave particular attention, however, to two points in the previous testimony of the prisoner. If the accused had, on the night of the murder a light fastened to the rear of the machine why could he not see the fleeing highwaymen to the rear of the car? Or, if the prisoner had grappled with the assasin and succeeded in wresting the shotgun from him, falling to the ground at the same time, upon the sudden release of the weapon from the highwayman's hands, why did the highwayman flee with Beattie at his feet on the ground?

These questions the prisoner evaded in his testimony but tomorrow the prosecution will hammer away at them anew.

Denial after denial came from the lips of the prisoner as prosecutor Wendenburg questioned him concerning the alleged purchase of a shotgun for him by his cousin, Paul Beattie on the Saturday before the murder and the testimony of the latter as to the confession in which Henry is alleged to have exclaimed:

"I wish to God I hadn't done it. I wouldn't do it again for a million dollars".

Beattie disclaimed any connection with the purchase of the gun and any knowledge of the transfer of any gun by Paul to him,declarind he had never seen the fatal shotgun until the nigt it was raised by the highwayman on the Midlothian turnpike. Little of Paul's testimony concerning his talk with him did he admit. H was with his cousin only on the Saturday night before the murder and merely carried him home in his car from the Beattie store in South Richmond. He emphatically denied that he had been with Paul at one time within the week or fortnight previous, and on this declaration the prosecution tomorrow will linger particularly, as tonight Detective Sherer declared that four witnesses were to be produced who saw Henry and Paul together, also

SUNDAY [illegible]NG IN MEXICO

Reyes Attacked by Mob When He Opened His Candidacy—Quiet Yesterday But Further Trouble Feared—Madero

Mexico City, Sept. 3.—Stoned and forcibly robbed of 3,000 pesos today by a mob of Maderistas, in the principal thoroughfare of the capital, General Bernardo Reyes, candidate for the presidency in opposition to Francisco I. Madero, was forced to abandon an effort to address his constitutents and to run the gauntlet of a jeering crowd upon whom the police had received orders not to fire except as a last resort Repeatedly the police charged the turbulent element and the records of the Red Cross, the White Cross and the commissionaries account for forty-three wounded as a result of the day's discorders. Most of these were injured by stones but many show bruises and cuts made by the soldiers and mounted police.

The stoning of General Reyes was the climax of a riot that began about 10 o'clock this morning and had not been entirely quelled at a late hour tonight.

General Reyes was scheduled to make his initial speech of the campaign today in front of the big ten-million-dollar national theater in course of construction. Shortly before 10 o'clock partisans of Reyes began gathering in the neighborhood of the theater. They clashed with a crowd of Maderistas. The Maderistas crowded about General Reyes' machine and prevented him from making his speech. The automobile was abandoned, its occupants walking the length of the Almedia to the center of the disturbance, a distance of four blocks, a crowd following, throwing stones and other missiles. Mounted policemen who had been trailing the crowds, now rode their horses into the mob which gave way before them. Entering a building facing the theatre Reyes and escorts went to the second story, where Reyes stepped to a balcony with the intention of addressing the crowd.

Such was the disorder, however, that Reyes' escort attempted to dissuade him from the effort. The old man would not be deterred and raised his hand for silence. Instead, the tumult grew and chunks of marble and rocks gathered from the ground about the new theatre, were hurled at the white-haired figure. A number reached their mark and yet Reyes stood despite the efforts of his son to induce him to seek shelter. For twenty minutes he remained there dodging missiles which wrecked the windows and signs covering the front of the building. The police, hated by the populace as the instrument used by Diaz to maintain order with an iron hand, had drawn their sabers and charged the crowd.

Mexico City, Sept. 4.—There was nothing in the aspect of this city today to recall yesterday's rioting except the heavy patrol of mounted police which moved about the town at regular intervals. Shutters were removed from the store windows at the usual hours this morning and everything was reported quiet.

General Reyes attributes the affair to a pre-arranged plan of certain persons attached to the department of communications. He dclared that he had received notice that workmen employed on public works, connected with that department, had not been paid on Saturday as was customary, but had been called into the capital for disrupting the meeting of his followers. The general said he had communicated this information to President DeLaBarra who promised that he would see that the plan if such a one existed, was frusted.

The authorities see possibilities of further trouble in the call issued by the students of the liberal party, so-called, to meet tomorrow to protest against Garcia Granados, the minister of the interior, whom they charge with unnecessary roughness in the methods used to disperse yesterday's mob. They term him "the chief of Cossacks" for having ordered or permitted the police to charge the mob.

A proclamation telegraphed by Francisco I. Madero from Pueblo and published here expresses his disapproval at the breaking up of the Reyes meeting yesterday.

"If the dictatorship provoked war," the progressive presidential candidate "said it was because he did not respect the rights of the people. So if we wish to have peace we must respect the rights of others. I appreciate that General Reyes in launching his candidacy causes indignation, inasmuch by so doing he seeks to improve the opportunity to impose another dictorship; but we must proceed within the law. I am confident that he cannot win since we count upon 99 per cent. of the people being with us. If we come to arms we will be in the same proportion."

FOUR PEOPLE DEAD FORTY INJURED

Erie and Pittsburg Passenger Train Dashed Into Lake Shore Freight.

WAS BACKING INTO A SIDING

Said That Engineer Disregarded Orders—Wounded Being Taken to Hospitals—Penned Under The Wreckage

Erie, Pa., Sept. 4.—Four are dead and at least forty injured as the result of the wreck of Erie and Pittsburg passenger train No. 201 tonight. The wreck occurred at Dock Junction, four miles west of this city, and came as the result of a collision between the Erie and Pittsburg train and a Lake Shore freight train that was backing into a switch to allow the passenger to get through. The wreck occurred at 8:45 o'clock and the passenger train was running 30 minutes behind its schedule.

The dead are: John S. Jones, engineer of West Tenth street, Erie; fireman, name unknown; tramp riding on train; unknown passenger on smoker.

Shortly before 9 o'clock a telephone message was received here for every available ambulance and physician. A relief train was also hurried to the scene of the disaster and by this time the entire train was a mass of flames.

The four dead had been pinned under the wreckage and at midnight their bodies had not been recovered.

Nineteen injured have been received at the city hospitals up to midnight and more are yet to come from the wreck.

According to reports in railroad circles tonight, Engineer Jones, who was in charge of the passenger, disregarded a red light and this was the cause of the collision. He was running 30 minutes behind his schedule and was endeavoring to make up some of the lost time when the accident occurred.

The smoking car was turned half over the injured crawled through the broken windows. Those of the passengers who had escaped uninjured rushed to the assistance of those less fortunate. The fire on the cars was extinguished before they were completely burned.

ONE THING AFTER ANOTHER

Crop Conditions in Robeson—Rain Doing Much Damage.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

McDonalds, N. C., Sept. 4.—About ten days ago I wrote an article concerning damage to the cotton crop in this section from the hot wave and the drouth. Right upon the heels of the drought comes rain every day for a week—not just showers, but rains that just flood everything. This week has brought back to the minds of the people of this section, August three years ago.

On account of the hot wave and dry weather about ten days ago, all of the old stand of the early varieties opened very rapidly, and it is now sprouting in the burr and badly beaten out on the ground and one is unable to say how much the damage is. One farmer said yesterday that he thought he was damaged to the extent of 150 pounds per acre. Lots of bolls are rotting on account of being on the ground. There has been very little gathered, however, so the fields are white. Pickers are scarce and not at all anxious to pick.

We note numerous accounts of damage to cities, towns and shipping from the storm, but very little is said as to damage in the country. To be sure it would be silly indeed to think that a storm severe enough to land torpedo boats, schooners, coastwise steamers, etc., high and dry on the beach, would not play havoc to growing crops; yet there is so little mentioned of any damage save along the coast.

We note the Governor of Alabama has invited Governor Kitchin, together with the Governors of several other cotton growing States to appoint a large delegation to the Southern Cotton Growers' Convention, which meets in Montgomery, September 12, This meeting is to advocate the gradual marketing of cotton crop and to correct erroneous impressions as to the volume of this crop. It was only a short time ago the State Commissioner of Agriculture of Alabama asked our State Commissioner of Agriculture, together with the Commissioners of several other cotton growing States, to join in a move to try to correct the over-estimation of the cotton crop of the South. I note our Mr. Graham did not think well of the move. Let up hope Governor Kitchin will give this matter prompt attention, as it is a move clearly in the interest of the farmers, and at this particular time our Governor should be very much interested in any movement that is for the betterment of the farmer. Should he fail to interest himself in this matter, it may be that farmers will fail to interest themselves in matters that will be vital to him some time in the near future.

THE MOROCCAN NEGOTIATIONS

German Foreign Minister and French Ambassador in Conference at Berlin—Effect of Meeting on The Bourse—No Statement.

Berlin, Sept. 4.—The German foreign Minister Herr Von Kiderlen Waechester, and the French Ambassador, M. Cambon, met here today to discuss France's proposals to Germany looking to a settlement of the Moroccan dispute.

The impression continues to prevail among German statesmen that the chief difficulties in the negotiation will be experienced over the problem of adequate guarantees for the maintenance of German's economic status in the Moroccan empire, it being the belief that the questions of French political predominance in Morocco and compensation to Germany in the shape of concessions of territory in the French Congo are of easier, arrangement.

The resumption of the Franco-German negotiations did not create optimism on the bourse, the tone being generally weak.

The French Ambassador whose "illness" it is intimated is due to the reluctance of France to resume the negotiations on the anniversary of her defeat at Sedan, called at the foreign office and communicated, in a short interview with the foreign minister the decisions of the French cabinet. Germany's reply for the proposals is expected shortly.

No public statement was issued relative to the interview between the French ambassador and the German foreign minister.

Herr Von Kiderlen-Waechter had requested Messrs. Wolfram and Bartholdt to call upon him for an informal talk half an hour before the farewell luncheon given in honor of the retiring American ambassador Dr. Hill The foreign minister discussed the general course taken by the Moroccan negotiations since the Algeciras conference, including Germany's difficulties with France in securing economic equality in Morocco and the the subsequent infractions of the Algeciras treaty by France.

The minister was of the opinion that while some difficulties might be met with, the negotiations probably would end in the recognition of France's political predominance in Morocco and in guaranteeing Germany economic opportunities in Morocco which must of necessity ensure her supplies of raw materials, particularly from for the future as well as the transfer to Germany of a slice of the French Congo as compensation. Herr Von Kiderlen-Warchter said he considered the question of raw materials very important but not important enough to justify war, adding that a chancellor who appeared before the Reichstag in defense of hostilities commenced for the sake of the Moroccan sandhills would have an unenvitable task.

ASSISTANCE NOT NEEDED.

Army Officers Find Storm Conditions At Beaufort Exaggerated.

Beaufort, S. C., Sept. 3.—Col. Surratt and party, of Fort Screven, were in Beaufort today, coming here on the Government tug General Jackson. They were investigating the general storm situation for the Government, in order to ascertain if help were needed.

Col Surratt was ordered to Beaufort by the War Department, in response to a telegram received from Congressman Byrnes, saying that this section was in dire need of assistance. Col Surratt found that all reports were exaggerated and, it is understood, wired the Government to the effect that neither the town of Beaufort nor the county is in need of any assistance whatever. The party departed for Fort Screven this afternoon.

LABOR MARCHERS NUMBERED 40,000

One Thousand Women in Line in New York Parade.

WANT EQUAL PAY, EQUAL SAY

Women's Banner Bore Inscription: "Equal Work, Equal Pay, Equal Say"—Socialistic Banners in Line—Women's Red Flags.

New York, Sept. 4.—Despite ideal weather, Labor Day failed today to draw the expected number of marchers into the procession. Conservative estimates of the number in line were 40,000, of whom perhaps 1,000 were women. The latter took advantage of the occasion to get in a word for equal suffrage, one section bearing a banner with the inscription: "Equal Work, Equal Pay, Equal Say."

The McNamara case was prominently referred to.

A majority of all banners and transparencies in the parade were in praise of J. J. McNamara, who is under arrest for alleged connection with the wrecking of the plant of the Los Angeles Times building. Detective William Burns, who arrested McNamara, came in for condemnation. One sign suggested that if there were more men like Victor Berger in Congress "The McNamara outrage would not have happened."

Other banners in line referred to the Asch building fire, in waich 150 persons lost their lives.

"We clothe the world and the world owes us a living," declared a tailors' delegation.

At different places along the line of march sood men with red flags, taking contributions for the defense of the McNamaras.

An immense crowd watched the proceeding.

TRINITY LAW SCHOOL.

Judge J. Crawford Beggs Joins Faculty of the Institution.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Trinity College, Durham, N. C., Sept. 2.—President Few today made this important announcement:

"Judge J. Crawofrd Biggs, formerly professor in the University of North Carolina, and for the last five years one of the most distinguished judges of the Superior Court in the State, has resigned his judgeship and accepted a professorship of law in Trinity College. Judge Biggs has behind him a brilliant record as student, teacher, attorney, Supreme Court reporter and judge. This bringing to the school of so learned and accomplished a lawyer is regarded as a most valuable acquisition.

"With Dean Samuel F. Mordecai, L. L. D., Judge Biggs and R. P. Reade, L. L. B., the school is equipped with a faculty tnat will enable it to carry forward the great objects for which it was seven years ago established. This was the first Southern law school to maintain adequate admission requirements, the first to introduce the case system, and the first to write its own books. Under the brilliant leadership of Dean Mordecai the school continues to hold this primacy. In the face of the disorganized state of legal education in North Carolina the school stands firm for higher standards and better methods of instruction, and it goes steadily on putting out books that meet the approval of the highest authorities in the country.

"In this movement to raise and invigorate one of the learned professions Trinity College is making substantial contribution to that moral and intellectual leadership for which every great college in part exists."

RESCUED BY BREECHES BUOY

One Woman and Four Men Snatched From Angry Sea—Shipping Disastrous on Main Coast—Gale Prevailed on Sunday.

Rockland, Me., Sept. 4.—Through boiling seas and in a gale of wind which had piled their vessel on Gunning rock at the entrance of Port Clyde harbor, the crew of four men, together with Mrs. John Kenn, wife of the captain of Ellsworth, Maine, schooner David Faust, were hauled in the breeches buoy to safety ysterday by the crew of the Burnt Life Saving station. Captain Keen, with his men, arrived here today, reporting that the vessel will be a total loss. The schooner was bound from Boston for Stockton.

The David Faust was built at Philadelphia in 1854 and was one of the oldest of the coastwise vessels. She was of 78 tons net and 100.2 long, 28 feet in breadth and had a depth of hold of 9.5 feet.

The same gale which sent the David Faust to her doom also threw ashore the schooner Annie May, Boston for Rockland The Annie May went aground on Southern Island, but after being stripped was towed on beam ends to Tennant's Harbor.

RACE TROUBLE RENEWED.

White Man Killed By Blacks in Oklahoma—Negroes Flee.

Durant, Okla., Sept. 3.—Horace Gribble, a white farmer, Was killed in a battle between five white men and five negroes, near Caddo last night. The white men declare they were fired upon while passing the home of a negro named Daniels, while the negroes say the whites threw a stick of dynamite at the house and commenced firing. Feeling against the negroes is bitter and further race trouble is feared

A stick of dynamite, with the fuse partly burned, was found near the house. After the encounter the white men fled to Caddo and told of the fight. Officers hastened to the scene of the encounter and found Gbble's body. The negroes did not know they had killed the man until informed by the authorities.

The negroes here, fearing retaliation by the whites, are sacrificing their crops and property to get away.

The clash resulted from race trouble, which has existed for the last month, during which one white woman has been attacked and killed and three attempts at similar crimes have been made by negroes.

Caddo, Okla., Sept. 3.—For the first time in its history Caddo tonight has no negro resident. The blacks have also fled from much of the surrounding country. The exodus started this morning from the first report of the killing of Horace Gribble, a white farmer, by negroes last night and continued throughout the day. No warning notices were necessary. The blacks took fright at the temper of the whites. All outgoing trains were crowded, when extra facilities were required for the handling of their baggage. More than 1,500 purchased tickets for McAlester, Muskogee, Oklahoma, and Bonham, Whiteright and Denison, Texas and smaller towns.

Cattle, hogs and crops were sacrificed at ridiculous prices, in order to raise money, while much other personal property was left behind. Farmers were in an ugly mood, but the community is quiet tonight, since the negroes have fled. A large Sunday crowd at the depot cheered each departing train which carried the blacks from the town. Three negroes arrested for the killing were taken to Toscomo in an automobile. The jailer at that point would hardly take the prisoners, fearing a mob.

Empire Athletic Club's share $6,-250.

Expenses $18,616.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—The geographical center of the wrestling world was more than ever fortified at Humboldt, Iowa, the home of Frank Gotch, today. Moreover Fred Smith, who proclaimed the world's champion victory over George Hackenschmidt, declared that for the next ten years there would be no shift of the wrestling capital, unless Gotch should choose to change his place of residence.

The Russian's showing was pitiful. The crowd decreed that he had "quit" but the defeated challenger, through copious tears, averred that he entered the arena with a wrnched knee on which Gotch worked and speedily reduced him to a state of comparative helplessness.

The foreigner's nerves were on edge. He spent a sleepless night and was pale when he crawled through the ropes. Dr. J. J. Davis, who examined both wrestlers before they went to the mat, declared that though there might be something wrong with Hackenschmidt's knee, it was not in evidence during the examination.

While it took Gotch fourteen minutes and eighteen seconds to gain the first fall, the second fall required only five minutes and thirty two seconds, which Hackenschmidt's friends assert, proved that his knee was in bad condition.

Referee Smith is authority for the statement that when Gotch secured the fatal toe lock which won him the match, Hackenschmidt cried out: "Don't hurt my toe," and a second later, "Don't break my leg." and fell with his shoulders to the mat, frothing at the mouth.

The first fall resulted from a reverse body hold after the men had struggled 14:18 1-2. That terrible toe hold, for which Gotch is famous, was responsible for the second fall. He claimed it on the left foot of Hackenschmidt after the second fall had gone 5:32 1-5. Scarcely had he obtained the grip, when Hackenschmidt acknowledged defeat. Hackenschmidt's own statement that it was the easiest world's championship ever won, tells the story of the bout almost as well as it could be told. Gotch never was in serious difficulty at any time during the match. Neither was he forced to extend himself to win The Iowan secured in all perhaps half a dozen dangerous holds on his antagonist.

Hackenschmidt had Gotch worried but once. During the first fall Hackenschmidt obtained a body hold on Gotch that brought him to the mat But the champion was on the canvas for only a few seconds. Then he was only down as far as his knees. Almost immediately after the lion realized that his opponent was in a dangerous predicament, Gotch had wriggled out of his hold and was bounding acros the ring to safety.

For his defeat Hackenschmidt offers but one excuse—that his left knee which was injured in training two weeks ago, weakened under the pressure of the iron hands of Gotch and it was useless to continue at the risk or being permanently injured. Hackenschmidt went into the ring with the member in a bandage.

But regardless of whether there be any merit to Hackenschmidt's claim that his knee was in bad shape, it cannot be denied that the challenger was in a state nominally to enter into a gruelling contest. Hackenschmidt was unnerved before he entered the arena.

Whether it was from worry over his injured knee or his fretting over the match generally cannot be said. Like Jeffries, however, the Russian lion spent a restless night before the battle, although his trainers tried every means to put him to ease. They had him in a room with John Koch, a German, and one of his chief duties was to sing songs of the fatherland to the Russian and try to sooth him, but Hackenschmidt would not be calmed.

SPORTING NEWS

CAROLINA TEAMS PLAY HERE

Greensboro Took Morning Game and Palmettoites the Afternoon Contest—Local Fans Delighted With Exhibitions

Wilmington fans harked back to old times yesterday, at least such could easily be imagined, when they gathered at League Park to witness two professional ball games, played by "real" ball players. About 600 attended the morning game and were well repaid by witnessing a game full of thrills and downright hard ball playing. Bussey, once the premier twirler in the Eastern Carolina League, pitched the morning game for Greenville and was backed up by Bert Kite, who played a magnificent game at backstop.

He handled everything in the old way for which he is famous locally and carried it off just as easily as "falling off a log." The former Sailor boys were wildly applauded at their first appearance on the field, which applause kept up all through the game. Bussey was a little liberal with hits, allowing 11 Greensboroites to hit him. Eldridge, for Greensboro, allowed 8 hits. Doak was seen starring in centerfield, pulling down impossible ones all through; Dick Smith starred on third and at the bat, and Hoey, the best first baseman in the Carolina League was at his accustomed stand on first.

In the first inning Greensboro was up and Rickard got on on an error of Hoey. Doyle was out on first and Fuller fled to right, a neat double play retiring the side. For Greenville another double play with same stage setting retired the side.

In the second it was one, two, three; also the first half of the third, but in Greenville's half, after Stouch was down Bussey singled and advanced on a passed ball. Lohr ambled and Hoey struck out, but Dick Smith came into the breach in the nick of time, mauling a two-bagger down third base line to the fence, Bussey scoring and Lohr stopping on third. A moment later Lohr scored and Smith went to third on Stuart's second misplay. Goodman singled to center scoring Smith, bu. Ned Doak flew out to third.

The North Carolinians came up in the fourth round, Doyle leading off with a double. Fuller hit a bad one with Kite on the job, but Doak came into his own with a neat single scoring Doyle. Clapp placed another one advancing Doak, but Loman and Carroll went out by way of second to first. In the last half Bert Kite got a hit, but didn't get beyond second.

It was bang up playing that blocked scores on both sides in the next inning, but in the sixth the Tar Heels, with one down, got a pass in favor of C. Doak, who went round to third when Clapp tapped one to right for two bags. Loman got a single on which Doak scored, Clapp stopping on third. Carroll was put out on first, Clapp scoring on the put out. Ware got the second double of the inning scoring Lowman. Eldridge hit to infield and Ware was caught at the plate and the game was won.

In the seventh and eighth nothing startling happened, but in the last half of the ninth it looked like a tie-up when Edwards started with a single. Kite got a near-hit, but on a double both men were put out on a close decision of the umpire.

The Afternoon Game.

A crowd variously estimated at from 1,200 to 1,500 were on the grand stand when the afternoon game was started at 3:30, and they had the privilege of witnessing one of the swiftest, snappiest, surprisingly spectacular games that has ever been played on the local diamond. Eldridge was sent in to repeat his morning's performance for the Tar Heels, while the Palmettoites put in Sheesley to stem the tide. Eldridge was more elective than in the morning game, yielding only 4 safe bingles, while Sheesley allowed 5. The Greenville team was spontaneously cheered by the crowded grand stand all through the game, in honor of the half dozen former Wilmington players in the line-up. Manager Stouch, famous for long hits when needed, broke up the game in the third with one of his two baggers, bringing in the first tally. Dick Smith got a hit each time at bat, two of them two baggers.

The first two innings were uninteresting except for the fast, snappy exhibition of the pastime that always goec well with the fans, but in the last half of the third, Stouch, first up for Greenville placed one in left that was good for two bags. Sheesley hit to infield and was safe on fielder's choice, Stouch making third on an error at that station. Lohr flied to right, Stouch scoring on the throw in Hoey hit to second and a double play retired the side.

In the first half of the fourth Fuller got a two bagger, but did not progress further, and in the last half, Smith got on and stole second but was called out on a questionable decision.

In the last half of the lucky seventh, Smith started things with a two bagger to left field fence. Goodman struck out and Doak was out on first. Smith being safely ensconsed on third. Edwards got the second double of the inning, scoring Smith. Kite fouled out to right, ending the run getting for the afternoon.

WILL PLAY AGAIN TODAY

Greenville Accepts Challenge To Play Off Tie For Entir Receipts—Will Have Strongest Batteries in League.

Dissatisfied with the state of affairs by which the Greenville team was about to run off with the big end of the money by their victory yesterday afternoon, the Greensboro team last night issued a challenge to the South Carolinians of the Carolina Association which played exhibition games here yesterday, to meet them in a battle for blood this afternoon to settle the tie of yesterday's game, the winning team to have the whole bag that is taken in at the ticket window.

Of course Manager Stouch saw a good chance to double his winnings for the trip to Wilmington and immediately threw down the gauntlet, and made arrangements for board at their hotel for an unlimited length of time.

As a result the fans will have the privilege again this afternoon of witnesing a repetition of the performance of yesterday afternoon, guaranteed to be "just as good," if not of a superior quality. The games yesterday were undoubtedly the best exhibitions seen on the local diamond in many moons, and many judged the afternoon game the best game ever played here. The Greenville team, with a half dozen former Wilmington players in the line-up is of peculiar interest to the local fans and everyone was delighted and agreeably surprised yesterday at the improvement in the boys. It was one continuous round of applause as th old "Sailors" pulled off star plays one after another, and it seemed that the grandstand thought it was to decided a championship in which Wilmington was vitally interested, the way they pulled for Greenville. It did the boys good too, to see that they still retained a warm spot in the hearts of the Wilmington fans, and they will go away more determined than ever to come back "home" again should opportunity present itslf, which is very probable. Wilmington lovers of the sport are on trial during these games, and the support given them will determine to a great extent whether we have professional ball here another year. Certain gentlemen who are willing to back a team another season, were greatly encouraged yesterday afternoon, and if the patronage continues today, there will undoubtedly be a movement started in the coming year to get into professional company again.

The members of both teams have asked that the public accept their thanks for the liberal patronage yesterday and asks us to assure everyone that it was deply appriciated. They are playing on their "own hook" now and paying their own expenses, and of course "every little bit helps." The game this afternoon will be played for blood, to determine a question that is yet unsettled to their satisfaction as to which is the superior team, this game breaking the tie of yesterday, and as the winners will get the whole amount of receipts it will be the hottest game ever played here. The batteries will be Hauser and Ware for Greensboro and Sheesley and Kite for Greenville. This is considered the strongest quartet in the Carolina League and should furnish a tight game. Tickets can be had at Struthers Cigar Store or at the Wilmington Cigar Company, also at the park, and the game will be called at 3:30 sharp. So with a hint that you'll be sorry everlastingly if you miss it, here's hoping to everybody in Wilmington there.

Annual Furniture Sale

Eye-Opening Prices---Thursday, Aug. 31

We will put on in full force our Annual September Furniture Sale. As all four former sales, this is a bona fide low priced sale. No faking, no false claims, no misrepresentations to deceive the purchasing public. We are here to stay, to make good and prove every advertised article and price. Three features that should appeal to the honest buyer who is looking for honest goods from reliable home merchants.

First, We have for several seasons brought to our customers unheard of values in samples and special purchases made at the great Furniture Exposition at discounts, which enabled us to sell them to our customers at, and and sometimes below factory price. This year we were fortunate in getting a large number of very choice pieces.

Second. We never allow goods to remain on our floor to get old. We have a complete stock of regular goods which we will dispose of during this sale at actual cost to make room for our new fall stock.

Third. Our buyer has just returned from the Northern markets, where he bought largely of specials to throw in and round up and tone up the stock which will be sold during this sale, with no object of profit making—only to add ginger to the sale and make it a bigger success.

The terms are strictly cash and we trust that purchasers will not embarrass us by asking that these goods be charged at these prices. Arrangements can be made for satisfactory time purchases.

LINEMAN'S FATAL PLUNGE

"Trouble Man" for Teelphone Company Dashes to His Death at Raleigh—Other Affairs at State Capital

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 4.—J. M. Smith, lineman for the Capitol City Telephone Company here, fell 20 feet from a telephone pole today, landing on his forehead and he died two hours later on the operation table at the hospital. The accident was early in the afternoon. Smith was "trouble man" for the telephone company and had been in the service here over a year, coming from Asheville. He was 40 yars old and leaves a wife and four children.

Conductor W. J. Murphy, of the Seaboard Air Line, was released this afternoon by Associate Justice W. A. Hoke, of the Supreme Court, on a writ of habeas corpus in resistance of requisition from the Governor of Georgia that Governor Kitchin had honored, charging Murphy with taking part in a "badger game" at Albany, Ga., August 12th. Saturday Murphy offered a dozen witnesses to prove he was in Raleigh at the time that the Albany game was worked. This afternoon Georgia witnesses admitted, after seeing Murphy here, he was not the "badger game" man.

Two delegations called on Governor Kitchin to press the claims of favorite candidates for the judgeship of the Ninth district, made vacant by the resignation of Judge J. Crawford Biggs, of Durham. One delegation came from Durham in the interest of H. A. Foushee, and the other from Oxford, for A. A. Hicks, who is State Senator from the district. In the Oxford delegation for Senator Hicks were General B. S. Royster, W. A. Devin, T. G. Stam and D. C. Brummitt. In the Durham delegation were Victor S. Bryant, R. H. Sykes and R. F. Reade, who urged the Governor to appoint Durham's candidate, H. A. Foushee. The appointment can be expected at any time now, and certainly lies between Hicks, Foushee and A. Wayland Cook, of Greensboro, with indications that the appointment will most probably go to Hicks or Foushee.

"Representatives of the Southern, the Seaboard Air Line and the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad companies appeared before the Corporation Commission today and filed exceptions to the assessments that the commission has made for taxes against the properties of the three companies, the special complaint being that the railroads are discriminated against in that real property over the State generally is assessed at 75 per cent. and less of its value, while railroad property is assessed at par, and in some instances above par. The assessment against the Southern is $46,641,696; against the Atlantic Coast Line, $32,995,567, and against the Seaboard Air Line, $17,500. James H. Pou represented all three railroad companies, along with Assistant General Counsel Elliott, for the Atlantic Coast Line; Col. A. B. Andrews and H. W. Miller, for the Southern. There will be a further hearing as to the Seaboard Air Line Saturday.

Wiley Austin, who has been a fugitive from justice since January, for the killing of Garfield Williams, at a negro oyster supper in Holly Springs township, this county, was brought here today from Norfolk. He admits the charge. Austin was drinking at the church festival and Williams, who was in charge, ordered him off the premises. In the quarrel that followed Austin drew his gun and fatally wounded Williams. Austin was captured three days ago, and J. J. Pleasants is to get $100 reward that was outstanding.

The Supreme Court will call Second district appeals for argument tomorrow in the following order: State vs. Vaughan; State vs. Cole; Chavis vs. Telegraph Co.; Blow vs. Joyner; Peele vs. Powell; Grant vs. Mitchell; Wall vs. Holloman; Bowser vs. Terry; Jenkins Will case; Commercial and Farmers' Bank vs. Scotland Neck Bank.

There is no indication as to when the Corporation Commission will announce the appointment of an assistant State Bank Examiner to take the place made vacant by the promotion of Chars. W. Brown to State bank examiner, succeeding J. Kemp Doughton, resigned. There are understood to be quite a number of applicants. However the Corporation Commission has made public the names of none of the applicants.

William Long, well known contractor for plaster and wall decorations, who has contract work in a number of North Carolina and Virginia towns, has just moved his family and headquarters from Greensboro to Raleigh.

LABOR DAY YACHT RACE

Freak Weather Marked Contest—Capt. E. A. Metts Winner

Through several separate, distinct and different brands of weather, the Labor Day yacht race of the Carolina Yacht Club—the final scheduled race for the season—was sailed over the club course yesterday afternoon, and out of the curious mixture of wind and calm Captain E. A. Metts, sailing the Puzzle, came in the winner.

Postponed for 15 minutes on account of a dead calm, the race started in a rain squall with a heavy wind, and halted by another dead calm wherein a great proficiency of sand flies evolved picturesque phrases of lurid language from the yachtsmen, the race was finished in a fine sailing breeze from the northwest.

The results of the race, which was an open one, were as follows:

The Puzzle, by Capt. E. A. Metts, first, time 2:16.

Dixie, by Capt. W. M. Peck, second.

No. 65, by Capt. L. P. Davis, third.

Don Julian, by Capt. O. A. Wiggins, fourth.

No. 66, by Capt. J. S. Brown, fifth.

No. 77, by Capt. Meares Harriss, sixth.

Though there are no more races on the programme for the season it is likely that a number will be sailed for the amusement of the owners of the different boats and the members of the club.

FIRST MONDAY IN COLUMBUS.

Court Convenes — Register of Deeds Elected — Other News.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Whiteville, Sept. 4.—Court convened this morning, Judge Whedbee presiding. There are 14 prisoners in jail to be tried for different offenses. Among the number are Robert Granger and Missie Marlow, who were convicted at the last term of court for the Grists murder, but their attorneys have applied for a new trial. Both were seen by the Star's correspondent Saturday and they appear hopeful and cheerful.

The county commissioners have just met and elected Mr. Arthur Baldwin register of deeds to succeed Mr. C. E. Smith, who died last week. Dr. Smith of Chadbourn was elected to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Lott Mills, coroner.

Mr. Baldwin has been assisting Mr. Smith in the office of register of deeds for the past year, and is a young man of wide popularity. He is a son of Mr. Joe Baldwin, of this place.

Last Saturday an old man of over 50 years, named A. D. Callahan, was tried before Magistrate Bruce Pierce for seduction, his victim being a young woman of 25, named McKenzie. Both parties live on the farm of Dr. W. Ross Davis, near Whiteville. The woman has a deformed arm and is simple-minded. Callahan was placed under a $500 bond, and failing to make same, was put in jail. He is a widower and has five children. Mr. Tucker represented Callahan and Mr. Grady the State.

The Baptists of Whiteville are talking about selling their parsonage and buying a lot half way between Whiteville and Vineland and putting up a new parsonage. Later they will erect a finer church on same lot.

Mr. J. Lewis Spivey last week went to Hendersonville, N. C., to see his brother-in-law, Mr. F. M. Hester, who i sthere for the benefit of his health. Mr. Spivey says he is doing finely and hopes to soon be restored and able to return home.

The friends in Whiteville of Miss Fanny Smith, of Fairmount, will be interested to hear of her approaching marriage on the 27th of this month, to Mr. Walter Mottinger. This event is of wide interest, as both are universally popular among a large circle of friends. Miss Smith is a daughter of Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Smith, formerly of Whiteville, and a niece of Mr. J. D. Maultsby, o fthis city.

The Smith-Maxwell case attracts much interest, and threatens to be long spun out. Mr. J. R. Maxwell has employed to assist Mr. Grady, Messrs. Schulken, Toon & Schulken, and Mr. Smith has engaged Messrs. Lewis, Lyon and Greer to assist Mr. Tucker in the defense. The counsel for the State will question the jurisdiction of Magistrate Pierce and Mayor Davis to impose a fine, and will endeavor to set aside their decisions and have the case tried before a jury in the Superior Court. They contend that these officers should only have bound the accused over and not fixed a fine. It is said another warrant will be sworn out against Aubrey Smith for trespass and carrying away the bicycle from Maxwell's store. It is a very unfortunate matter, regretted by every one.

The funeral of Mr. Charley Baldwin was largely attended, and the floral offerings from sympathetic friends were beautiful and elaborate. Among them was a beautiful cross sent by the Daughters of the Confederacy.

Mr. Felix Smith, of Wilmington, spent Sunday with his parents here. He was accompanied home by Mr. Leslie Ellis, who was his guest while here. Mrs. L. D. McCollum, of Augusta, who has been visiting relatives here, has returned to her home. Mr. J. F. Barclay left yesterday for Rocky Mount, where he went on receipt of a message that his brother, Mr. John Barclay, of that place, was in extremis. Miss Fay Memory left today for James Sprunt, at Kenansville, where she will teach this session. She was accompanied by Miss Blannie Baldwin, who will attend school there. Miss Leila Memory has returned to Buie's Creek, where she has charge of the music department. Mrs. W. B. Berry, of Wilmington, has returned home after a visit to Miss Aileen Smith.

LAME EVERY MORNING

A Bad Back Is Always Worse in the Morning. Wilmington People Are Finding Relief.

A back that aches all day and causes discomfort at night is usually worse in the morning. Makes you feel as if you hadn't slept at all.

Can't cure a bad back until you cure the kidneys—make you feel better, work better, rest better and sleep better.

Good deeds in Wilmington prove the merit of Doan's.

W. L. Benson, 620 South Second street, Wilmington, N. C., says: "I cheerfully re-endorse Doan's Kidney Pills and confirm the statement I gave in their praise in February, 1908. My back ached nearly all the time and I could not straighten after stooping or lifting without having a sharp pain in my loins. Mornings when I got up, I was very lame and sore and I noticed that the kidney secretions contained sediment. Soon after I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Bellamy's drug store, I felt better in every way and it was not long before I was enjoying the best of health. My advice to anyone from kidney complaint is to try Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

OUTRAGEOUS DEED IN ROBESON

Negro at Midnight Dealt Fatal Blow to Saw Mill Man and Attempted to Assault His Wife—Injured Man in Hospital—Arrests.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Lumberton, N. C., Sept. 4.—One of the most outrageous crimes ever perpetrated in this county was committed Saturday night about 12 o'clock near McDonald, 10 or 12 miles from here when Mr. J. G. Tolar's head was crushed while he was asleep by a midnight assassin, the instrument used being an upright piece of a plow casting. The fiend crowded in the room through an open window and dealt the blow which is expected to cause Mr. Tolar's death.

There were two beds in the room, one occupied by Mr. Tolar and his little daughter while the other was occupied by Mrs. Tolar and baby. So quietly was the deed done that none of the occupants of the room was awakened until Mrs. Tolar felt some one grasp her throat. She called her husband but the only reply was an order to hush. She began screaming for help when her assailant fled through the open window. In the encounter with the brute Mrs. Tolar's hands came in contact with the brute's head which she readily recognized as being that of a negro. Upon lighting a lamp she found her husband unconscious from the effects of the blow inflicted upon the right side of his head back of the ear. She did all she could to revive him but being unable to do so, took her two little children and walked three-fourths of a mile for assistance.

Dr. Brown was summoned from Fairmont and promptly responded. The injured man was brought to the Thompson Hospital yesterday about noon. An operation was performed, a piece of scull two or three inches in size being removed. This morning Mr. Tolar showed some signs of regaining consciousness and while his symptoms have been more favorable today, there is little hope of his recovery.

The effect of the midnight attack could have been none other than murder and the usual crime as after striking Mr. Tolar the would-be-murder laid the death dealing instrument on the chair on which Mr. Tolar had placed his pants on retiring. In the pockets of the pants was about $120 which was not molested. Three negroes have been arrested and placed in jail but it is not yet known if they were connected with the crime though they admit being near the scene about that time. Mr. N. S. Tolar, a brother of the victim, has offered $100 reward for the capture of the brute and the county has offered $200. Mr. Tolar has extensive saw mill interests in the county and was living near one of the mills.

SEVERE THUNDER STORM

Lightning Strikes Man and Woman Near Maxton.

Maxton, Sept. 1.—During a severe thunder storm in this section yesterday evening lightning struck Mrs. M. M. McEachern at her home 6 miles north of this place, injuring her foot to some extent, but perhaps not seriously. Mr. Gibson, who was struck also, his shoe being torn from his foot and literally torn into shreds. He was not injured physically, but, of course, was shocked. One of the heaviest rains, this section has had for a long while came last night, pouring in torrents for several hours, almost without even slight cessation. Much damage was done the crops, especially cotton, which for the past ten days has been getting frequent showers, and was suffering from them. Washouts on all the railroads delayed trains today, but the actual damage to the farmers in problematical, although it is safe to say that all cotton has been seriously hurt from the rains.

Not a Word of Scandal

marred the call of a neighbor on Mrs. W. P. Spangh, of Manville, Wyo., who said: "She told me Dr. King's New Life Pills had cured her of obstinate kidney trouble, and made her feel like a new woman." Easy, but sure remedy for stomach, liver and kidney troubles. Only 25 cents at R. R. Bellamy's.

It adds to the blood the rich, healthful properties it needs, and in every way enables the system to stand the strain of the long, hot summer. *S. S. Always exercise your citizenship for the best interests of North Carolina and you won't go wrong. The ambitions of men, even those of ourselves and our friends, are nothing compared with the great interest of the State of which we have so many reasons to be proud. North Carolina first and the bunch last.

A THREE CROP COUNTRY

A country which can produce one abundant crop in one season on a given acre of land is considered a fine country, but what can be said of a region which has the land and the climate precisely suited to producing three and even four profitable crops on the same ground in one crop season?

Such a region is the fertile tidal country of the Carolinas. Eastern North Carolina is the premier trucking and agricultural country, and when its capabilities and possibilities are known abroad there will be such an inrush of homeseekers into this country as will be a surprise to the old settlers who have been taking it easy and living off the fat of the land without half trying. Just the other day, The Star told of 150 acres of fine cotton which Mr. G. A. Dornin, of Horry county, has after he had already raised on the same land a profitable crop of early truck. He is expecting a bale of cotton per acre, and even at 12 cents a pound for cotton he will chuck $9,000 in the bank in addition to the profit he made on his first crop of truck. Ordinarily, it requires a man of intelligence and industry to handle propositions of this kind, but he need not necessarily have any great amount of experience. Mr. Dornin is an experienced truck grower, but this is his first experience in cotton growing. If a man has the energy, industry and intelligence, the lands in this country will surely do the rest.

The Star loves to tell what the people in this tidal country are doing but some of them are doing so well they hesitate to tell about it for fear they will have competition. However, that is a mistaken idea, for the country is growing and "no man liveth to himself," either in the sense of setting an example or in an industrial connection. There are plenty of opportunities for others and the world is not so crowded with producers that one has to fear that we can grow too much of a good thing. In fact, we are not producing enough in this country to meet the present demands much less to keep up with the increasing markets as great cities grow up and the country develops.

We are doing business in a two, three and four crop country, and the thrifty farmers of the Carolinas are furnishing evidences and results every day. We know of a firm of truckers who are demonstrating the advantages of partnership farming. Everybody is familiar with the fact that men go into copartnership to merchandise, but in this country there are also agricultural firms. We have never heard of one that has gone into the hands of a receiver. On the contrary, we hear of operations like those of one firm at least which furnishes us a fine example of the two, three and four crop farming methods of this part of the Nation's Garden Spot. This season they produced on 21 acres of land 800 crates of lettuce to the acre and then planted a cucumber crop and produced on a average of 600 crates of that fine money crop. In other words, they shipped two cars of lettuce for each acre planted and as 400 crates is a minomum car load, we observe that their crop per acre was 800 crates of lettuce in addition to their later crop of 600 crates of cucumbers per acre, be it remembered. After the two former crops had been harvested, the land was sown in peas and just what their forage crop was we have not learned. However, as this is a pea producing country,, it can be imagined that they will reap a third profitable crop from their well tilled acres.

Another farmer's third crop was corn and The Star is informed that it will turn out 100 bushels per acre so that in the concrete we have one acre of land in the Nation's Garden Spot producing a profitable lettuce and cucumber crop and one hundred bushels of corn per acre in one crop season. On some of the land lettuce was first planted, followed by beets, and now on some of the same land is this wonderful crop of corn The first crop on some of the land was cucumbers, the third crop was corn and now we learn that a "wonderful growth of peas is coming on"—the fourth crop, if you please, on the same land.

It would be interesting to know the expense of producing four crops per acre so we could state the net profits but we have no means of doing that just now, except to estimate that the profits per acre were more than $500 where four crops were produced. We know of one farmer whose lettuce profit alone was $20,000 this season, not to mention the value of other crops produced on the same land. This is wonderful farming and is almost incedible, but the record is before us.

Talking about farming, Dr. W. R. Eve, near Beaufort, S. C., produced on five acres what he said was a "fair lettuce crop," grown in the Winter and Spring, and following his lettuce crop last season he produced 775 pounds of lint cotton or nearly two bales per acre. How is that for practicing medicine and farming on the side?

All around Wilmington there are well substantiated instances just like the above and later The Star hopes to give some of the agricultural experiments of those who are farming right at our doors.

THE VIRGINIA AGONY.

The Senatorial contest will end (and probably not) next Tuesday when the State Democratic primary will be held to nominate a successor to Senator Martin, who has for many years ably served Virginia in the United States Senate and who at the session of Congress just ended was paid the honor of being made Democratic leader in the Senate. Senator Martin is a candidate to succeed himself, and so is Senator Claude A. Swanson, but they have aggressive made, involving both the personal Jones, who have been waging a hot campaign.

Wes doubt whether Virginia Democrats have ever been so set by the ears as they have been in a campaign in which the lie has been given and sent by the distinguished candidates. Numerous changes, also, have been and politicial integrity of the personal and political integrity of the aspirants. Of course, the newspapers have taken a hefty part, and so on Thursday the Virginians will go to the polls both as a matter of duty and for vengance as they wish to wreak it on each other's candidates.

The strong probability is that Senators Martin and Swanson will be re-elected, but that is by no means certain. Even if they are nominated, or whether Messrs. Glass and Jones are nominated, it will take hard work to get the Virginia Democrats together in the election of a Legislature that will carry out the will of the party as expected in the nomination. At this distance it would look like there has been such a row that there is danger to the party in the next election.

Strong efforts have been made to save Senators Martin and Swanson, and during the latter weeks of the campaign, Editor A. B. Williams, of the Roanoke Times, has been located in Richmond to conduct a Martin-Swanson campaign in the Richmond Virginian. Mr. Williams is and able, philosophic newspaper man an has written on high grounds, but that he fears the consequences of the bad feelings engendered during the campaign he writes:

"All of us who have not gone too far, had best begin to realize that we have a Democratic party in the State to be maintained and that we people in Virginia must live here together in years after this year. I think this battle is about won and that the people will record for the sitting Senators a majority which will make it certain that we never shall have another such campaign and outburst."

In the heat of a campaign, the politicians, the hot spurs and some of the newspapers forget the safety of the party. It is rather late for the Virginians to consider that matter now but after the primary they can reflect soberly and may "let it all pass." However, there is a possibility that they will not do so, for it must be remembered that in all States, even including North Carolina, the Republicans gain votes after such a campaign as has been waged in Virginia.

For the reason that we are tired seeing the kind of Republican party that w have in North Carolina making gains in spite of itself, the Star, early in our own Senatorial campaign, counseled "a gentlemen's contest." There is no common sense in going to extremes, and there exists no single issue that would warrant the creation of bitterness, so it is hoped North Carolina Democrats will avoid such a conflict as has been witnessed in our neighbor State.

The way to maintain harmony in the party is to always have harmony in mind. Appeals for harmony after parties have been all but "broke up" always appear to be ridiculous. It is wisdom practiced after second thought.

AERIAL NAVIGATION.

The congress of lawyers of all nations recently held in Paris to confer concerning an international code to regulate aerial navigation, is a step which singnalizes the beginning of success at actual use of the air for transportation purposes. Certainly, aerial navigation has reached an important if not practical stage when the nations begin to get together on the necessity of laws to govern international transportation between earth and sky.

The lawyers to draft such a code represented the United States, Canada, Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Spain, Belgium and Switzerland. The New York Herald published a cablegram of the proceedings and it seems that the lawyers have made considerable progress. The proposed code to be submitted to the nations for ratification declares that "atrial traffic is free."

In othr words it stipulated that each country has over its sky space and territorial waters only such rights and jurisdiction as are necessary for the assurance of national scurity and the exercise of private rights.

In the proposed code there are other clauses which provide that every aeroplane or balloon must carry a mark indicating the nationality of its owner and necessary documents for its identification. Every machine used for the navigation of the air must be registered, and the lists of such registrations must be published. No flying machine of any kind is allowed to land on closed properties, or in the vicinity of fortified places, and the damage caused by the landing of machines must be made good. Except in case of great peril aeronauts are prohibited from throwing out anything of a nature to cause injury to persons and property.

More than anything else, the congress of authorized lawyers of the different countries signifies that the science of aviation has so far progressed that it is time for international notice to be taken of it. It is acknowledged that aerial navigation has reached the point where it is necessary to come to some general understanding as to changes in the law representing frontier intercourse, for it is admitted that the possibilities of the aeroplane have brought such distributing broblems, both in time of peace and war, as to compel all governments to give them serious consideration.

Some men don't even know the tune which accompanies the words, "Show me the way to go home."

You know that winter is not far ahead when the telegraph states that a coal fleet carrying upward of 12,000,000 bushels of coal, has started from Pittsburg down the Ohio for Southern points. About 20,000,000 bushels more await shipment in the same way.—Charlotte Observer.

Although the government announces that the Southern Wholesale Grocers' Association has agreed to the legal dissolution of the combination the president of the organization makes haste to declare that it is stronger than ever. In that case we are inclined to scout the theory and accept the fact.—Charlotte Observr.

In a reminiscent letter to The Fayetteville Observer, Dr. T. B. Kingsbury, of Wilmington, now in his 84th year, asys that is the last appearance he will make in public print. Manager Caples of the Carolina, Clinchfield & Ohio road, reports that the freight and passenger business of that line are entirely satisfactory, having grown considerably in the last few months, and being much larger than a year ago. It will take some time for the business world to become accustomed to this avenue of traffic, running as it does across the grain of established channels, but it is bound to develop a trans-mountain exchange of commodities that will be pleasant and profitable to the dealers all along the route. Its passenger traffic has hardly gotten well started yet compared with what it will be when the people become better acquainted.—Caarlotte Observer.

The Wilmington Star deprecates efforts being made in any community to prejudice the cause of good road building by reason of the automobile. "Let us get the idea out of our noggins," it says, "that it is not worth while to build roads for automobiles as well as for ourselves, for it would pay to build highways for even the single purpose of attracting motor tourists. New England has done it and we ought not to let folks like those in New England have one more grain of sense than we have. It has paid New England immensely, and even this summer North Carolinians have toured over some of those New England highways." The poorest parts of any country are the parts seldom visited by automobiles. The richest parts are where automobiles are thickest. These facts ought to throw light on the automobile and the highway question.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Mr. Taft praised the Democrats for coming to his rescue and passing the Reciprocity bill, justly saying that they did not play politics in the matter, but acted patriotically, notwithstanding the bill was passed by the administration and they could easily have embarrassed the President by refusing to pass it. The President was able to appreciate this spirit in the Democrats and said so, but when the test was applied to the President himself, he was unable to act as patriotically as the Democrats and must needs play partisan politics. Surely, in the light of the President's previous utterances on the tariff, that is the only iterpretation that can be put upon his vetoes. He was afraid that if he signed the bills it would give the Democrats an advantage. He hopes he can explain his vetoes satisfactorily and then with the report of the Tariff Board as a basis, make recommendations for tariff revision and claim the credit for whatever may be done for his own party.—Raleigh Times.

Real Epochs of Life.

Real action is in silent moments. The epochs of our life are not in the visible facts of our choice of a calling, our marriage, our acquisition of an office, and the like, but in a silent thought by the wayside as we walk; in a thought which revises our entire manner of life and says: "Thus hast thou done, but it were better thus."—Emerson.

Facts About Motherhood

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at the time of child-birth, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when the strain is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

It isn't as though the experience came upon them unawares. They have ample time in which to prepare, but they, for the most part, trust to chance and pay the penalty.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy, and strong.

Any woman who would like special advice in regard to this matter is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. Her letter will be held in strict confidence.

IMPORTANT MATTERS TODAY

City Council Will Likely Retain the "Sanitary Closet"—Sewerage Question Up For Final Consideration

Today promises to be one of the most eventful in the life of the present city administration. Three separate and distinct meetings are to be held, the first two for the consideration of specific matters and the third will be the regular weekly session. This morning the Council will decide whether it will stand by the Health Department in the matter of the 'sanitary closets" or modify it or grant the request of a great many citizens that the ordinance be repealed. This afternoon at 3 o'clock the sewerage question will be finally considered and definitely decided. Routine matters will be considered at the regular session which begins upon the termination of the afternoon special session.

Action on the request of a great many citizens for a repeal of the sanitary closet ordinance will be taken at a meeting to be held for the purpose at 10 o'clock this morning. It is a pretty safe bet that the ordinance will not be repealed or modified, but it has been hinted that the city may agree to furnish the necessary amount of oil for the closets for the poor who make application. Citizens will hold a second mass meeting in the Court House this evening at 8 o'clock to hear the report of the committee appointed to appear before the Council. Should the report be unfavorable to the meeting, as it most probably will be, then the citizens will consider the exigency of exercising the privilege of the recall on the entire Council, according to the programme decided upon at the initial mass meeting last Thursday night. The possibility of a recall does not seem to be bothering the Councilmen at all. They propose to be governed in this matter by what they think is right, it is understood, and one member of the body pointed out yesterday that while a great many complained against the sanitary arrangements, only a few said that they were complying with the instructions of the Health Department and further that a great many others have volunteered the information that the devices installed on their property have been cared for strictly in accordance with directions and are giving perfect satisfaction.

Another thing that will probably have considerable weight with the Council in consideration of the matter is a strong communication received yesterday morning from Dr. W. S. Rankin, secretary of the State Board of Health, who not only had a word of praise for the ordinance and the type of closet but said that upon his recommendation Salisbury is considering the matter of putting in effect a similar ordinance. He declared that the eyes of the State are upon Wilmington in her campaign for improved health and sanitary conditions and urged upon Council that it will do the cause no good to take a backward step, especially right at this stage.

Last Tuesday afternoon the Council decided that the sewerage question would be settled at this meeting. The first thing to be decided is whether or not the existing system will be purchased. It seems now to be the general opinion that the existing plant will have to be taken sooner or later and might as well be acquired without further delay. Then the Council will determine which of the several propositions of the bondholders of the Wilmington Sewerage Co. they will accept. The bondholders have offered to sell the plant outright for $160,000; or submit to arbitration the value of the system, agreeing to abide by the result; or build and equip an adequate system, putting in the present plant at $160,000, issuing bonds to cover the cost of the additional expenditure, selling the completed system to the city, which will be given a long period in which to pay off the debt. Under the modified proposition they agree to arbitrate the value of the present plant and yet build the enlarged system, provided the arbitrators take into consideration "all elements of value, physical and commercial, and the fact that their award is to determine, not a cash consideration to be paid, but a value to be fixed upon which it is to be incorporated in the larger system to be built under this proposition." Should the modified proposition be accepted the bondholders say that their obligation to furnish additional funds for new construction work must be limited to $350,000, including the arbitrated price at which the present plant is to be incorporated." Which of the propositions the Council will accept remains to be seen.

There are a number of matters of interest to be considered at the regular meeting this afternoon, among which is the scavenger work, though this matter may be deferred again until a subsequent meeting. It has already been up at several previous meetings, but went over because the Council desired the sewerage question settled first. As the sewerage question is to be settled this afternoon it is not improbable that the Council will determine at the regular session whether the city will do the scavenger work or give it out by contract.

Dr. Rankin's Letter.

"Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 4, 1911.

"The Honorable Mayor and Board of Councilmen, Wilmington, N. C.

"Gentlemen:—I have been informed of the purpose of the mass meeting of the citizens held in your county Court House last Thursday night.

"I am not aware of a reason why certain citizens of Wilmington should seek to have the ordinance requiring the use of sanitary closets repealed. I fear that the action of the mass meeting has been influenced to a considerable degree by political motives or personal prejudices, and that the decision of that meeting to request the Council to repeal the sanitary privy ordinance does not rest solely upon considerations for the commonwealth. I am very reluctant to believe that the action of the mass meeting is representative of the wishes of the people of your progressive city—surely intelligent citizens, and by citizens I mean those with sufficient intelligence to recognize the numerous bonds of union between themselves and neighbors, and with sufficient conscience to respect those bonds, do not desire that the germs of intestinal disease, typhoid fever, dysentery, diarrhoeas, et al, be scattered about in a city of your population, and in a city that lays claim to cleanliness, so that this poisonous material may be washed into private water supplies or carried by the flies through the kitchen and dining room into the stomachs of your people.

"From my point of view the distinctive feature of the administration of your Council has been its stand for improved sanitary conditions, a cleaner city, more efficient and happier lives and fewer deaths. Indeed, your Council has acted in accordance with the wisdom of Gladstone, who said, "The first duty of the statesman is public health." Your Council has recognized that its protective care should concern itself with the possessors, as well as the possessions of Wilmington; with that fundamental thing, human life, as well as that secondary thing material wealth. In taking this position you have gained the admiration of the progressive and thinking people of this State, and you are rapidly making your city an example in sanitation, which is one of the greatest services that your body can confer upon your country.

"Now, to retrace your steps, to rescind one of the most important sanitary ordinances that you have enacted, will have a most disastrous effect upon the good work you have begun and ocurageously carried on in the face of considerable criticism. To once yield, and especially yield so important an issue as that which is now at stake, would be to encourage those who oppose the progressive sanitary government, and to make your position as progressive aldermen more untenable in the future by encouraging their attack and by dividing your followers; because, I believe that the representative people of Wilmington approve of what you are doing, and would disapprove the rescinding of so important an ordinance as the one which removes the greatest sanitary danger from your city.

"If it is a matter of detail rather than principle that the mass meeting desire, that is if they are opposed to the particular privy that your ordinance calls for, but not to a sanitary privy, that is a closet that prevents access to flies to excrement, and prevents excrement from polluting soil, then it may be well enough to amend the former ordinance which will permit them to use some other form of sanitary privy than the one prescribed. In the latter case, however, no privy should be allowed in Wilmington until approved by your Health Department. I am enclosing an ordinance which we have suggested for the use of larger towns and cities in North Carolina, but I do not suggest it as a substitute for your own excellent ordinance.

"Two weeks ago I was in consultation with the Board of Health of Rowan County and the health officers and Mayor of Salisbury. Among other things we discussed the use of sanitary privies in their County and city. I told them of your ordinance, and of the type of privy which you prescribed. They were very much taken with it, being especially favorably impressed with the fact that the town itself supervised the construction of that part of the privy which relates to sanitation, and with the cheapness of the outfit. I advised the authorities of Salisbury to write for a copy of your ordinance, and I believe that they will adopt it just about as it stands in Wilmington. You see, therefore, that you are being used as an example to other cities, and that the beneficnt effects of your administration is reaching beyond the corporate limits of Wilmington, and now, would it not be a shame to resign the position of leadership which you occupy and which you have won? I have met your board. I have been especially impressed with the type of men composing it, and my faith in you is this: That in passing upon this matter you are going to be influenced and decided in your action by the consideration of, not what is politically expedient, nor what is the most popular thing for the time being but solely by what is right—the only thing that will remain permanently to your credit. In behalf of the health interests of North Carolina, more especially of the people of Wilmington, I earnestly implore your Honorable Board not to repeal the requirement which removes the old-fashioned, out-of-date, dirty, sewerage supplying, fly-propagating and disease-distributing privy from your city.

"Respectfully submitted,

"W. S. RANKIN, M. D.,

"Secretary State Board of Health."

MANY OBSERVED LABOR DAY

Ball Games and Attractions at Seashore Resorts Draw Hundreds of Pleasure Seekers—A Day of Recreation.

Labor Day in this city was anything but a day of labor, and Wilmingtonians for the most part toiled not, neither did they spin, but hied themselves away from the busy marts of trade and flocked to the ball park or the nearby seaside resorts on pleasure bent and in the pursuit of recreation and amusement.

Though the day dawned with lowering clouds and a slight showr of rain, the threatening aspect of the weather had almost disappeared by 9 o'clock, and the air was delightfully cool and invigorating. In the city no rain fell during the day, except the morning shower, and at Wrightsville the elements were considerate enough to hold in check until late in the afternoon, after all the outdoor events were over with.

Probably the majority of the pleasure-seekers observed the holiday at the ball park, witnessing two excellent stagings of the great American pastime, but both Wrightsville and Carolina beaches drew their quota from the throng, and a thoroughly enjoyable time was the lot of all, wherever their respective tastes led them.

Many of the business houses of the city closed for the day, or part of it, and while the General Offices of the Atlantic Coast Line remained open, yet many of the clerks were given a holiday and helped to swell the crowds at the different resorts.

Before a crowd that could hardly be characterized as more than fair-sized, the Labor Day athletic meet at Lumina, on Wrightsville Beach, was held, with a good number of entries for the different events, and all were hotly contested. Much interest was manifested by the spectators and the contestants were heartily cheered by their admirers. Medals, cups, razors, knives, candy, car tickets, etc., were given as prizes.

The results, in the order in which the contestants finished, were as follows:

100-Yard Dash (under 110 pounds)—Carlyle Shepard, Richard Meier, and Clarkton Hunt.

100-Yard Dash (over 110 pounds)—Harry Solomon, George Hashagen and K. McKenzie.

Running Broad Jump (under 110 pounds—Carlyle Shepard (15 feet and 9 inches), R. Meier and B. James.

Running Broad Jump (over 11 pounds)—George Hashagen (17 feet and 2 inches), J. V. Grainger, Jr., and M. LeMoyne.

Sack Race (under 110 pounds)—Roy Schnibben, Kramer and William Toomer.

Sack Race (over 110 pounds)—J. V. Grainger, Jr., Harry Solomon and R. W. Strange.

Rope Climb—Northey, H. Solomon and J. V. Grainger, Jr.

Human race (carrying a man 50 feet and return) — Solomon and Strange, Grainger and LeMoyne, Lewis and Meier.

Weight Lift (32 pounds)—Sherman (60 times), LeMoyne and Northey.

Potato Race (under 110 pounds)—Carlyle Shepard, Richard Meier and Jacobs.

Potato Race (over 110 pounds)—McKenzie, Grainger and Morrison.

Flag Race (for small girls)—Laura Parsley, Mannie Emerson and Caroline Northrop.

220-Yard Dash—Harry Solomon, George Hashagen and J. V. Grainger, Jr.

Swimming Race (under 110 pounds)—W. W. Jones, W. A. Lord and H. McKoy.

The officials of the meet were: Mr. Chas. Dushan, referee; Mr. J. B. Huntington, marshal; Mr. B. A. Thees, scorer; Mr. W. M. Shaw, clerk of course; Messrs. Charles Nicklie and Raymond Hunt, judges.

Fishing was another popular pastime at Wrightsville Beach, and many spent the entire day in efforts to depopulate the ocean of some of its finny inhabitants, with more or less success. Although the Fall fishing has not yet reached its best, some good catches were made yesterday. The trestle and the pier at the Seashore Hotel were crowded with anglers all day and other disciples of Izaak Walton fared forth in boats and essayed their luck in the deeper waters.

At Lumina in the afternoon music, dancing and bathing occupied the attention of the crowd and furnished amusement and recreation for those who indulged in these pastimes.

About 4 o'clock in the afternoon a strong wind and a slight shower came up, and while the wind was at its height the yacht race over the Carolina Yacht Club course was sailed, to the enjoyment of many who do not often have the opportunity of seeing the swift white-winged craft speeding through the waters of Banks' Channel.

Many went down to Carolina Beach on the steamer Wilmington and enjoyed the day at this delightful resort, fishing, bathing, dancing and whiling away the time in other pleasurable pursuits.

Taken as a whole, with the baseball games and the attractions offered by the seaside resorts, Labor Day was one of the most enjoyable for Wilmington people in some time, and was fittingly observed by hundreds of the citizens of the City by the Sea.

Offer Congratulations

Dr. Chas. T. Nesbitt, city superintendent of health, yesterday received two telegrams from physicians who have been much interested in his work as the health officer of Wilmington The first was from Dr. S. D. Booth, superintendent of health of Granville county, and read: "Hold to what you have. We are right behind you." The other was from Dr. T. F. Booth, superintendent of health of Oxford, N. C., reading as follows: "Accept sympathy and congratulations. Have had same fight. Stand by your guns. You will win out" The receipt of the telegrams is but another evidence that the people of the State are watching with considerable interest the campaign for improved health and sanitary conditions in Wilmington.

FAREWELL CONCERTS SUMDAY

Many Heard Two Splendid Programmes Rendered at Lumina By Kneisel's Orchestra—The Day at Resort

Under the brightset of Summer skies and with just a touch of Autumn in the air, Sunday was probably the most perfect day of the season at Wrightsville Beach and although the throngs from the hotels that were so noticeable a few weeks ago were not in evidence, a good crowd was gathered at Lumina, where the final Sunday concerts of the season were rendered.

In addition to the many Wilmingtonians and suburban cottagess who were present, several hundred visitors from Newbern, Fayetteville Goldsboro and other nearby points came in to spend a final day at Wrightsville Beach? The incoming trains were met at the station by suburban cars and the visitors went straight through to the resort.

At the Seashore Hotel there are still a number of guests and at the Oceanic which remains open until the first of October, there was quite a crowd for Sunday. A number of the visitors from outside points registered at the Oceanic Sunday, but most of them went on to Lumina, where they spent the day.

Surf bathing and fishing were popular pastimes for the day and both occupied the attention of quite a number, but by far the events of the most importance were the farewell afternoon and evening concerts rendered by the Lumina Orchestra, of which Prof. John Kneisel is conductor. Both concerts were of high standard, and while the afternoon rendition was unusually good, and was heard by a large throng of charmed listeners, the evening programme—the final one for the year—was one of the best that has ever been rendered in the handsome pavillion, and it was with more than regret that the audience heard the last note die away. Professor Kneisel had exercised much care and judgment in selecting this programme and every number was encored so repeatedly that in reality the concert occupied almost twice as much time as is usually the case for the orchestra responded with an encore number after each selection. The feature of the programme was a very appropriate march written by Professor Kneisel. "Auf Wieder Sehn," or till we meet again, and while the other numbers received applause this one was given an ovation. In response to repeated encores the musicians rendered another of Mr. Kneisel's compositions, "Somewhere," which received almost as much acclaim as the first one.

Only one number was not received with hearty applause, and this was, after finishing the final selection, the orchestra swept into the sobbing strains of "Auld Lang Syne." The crowded pavillion grew still and in the hush and silence the soft notes of the tender old Scotch ballad seemed superhumanly beautiful. As the last sad sweet note died away only a few fairt claps could be heard, for the audience seemed to be too deeply moved to encore. Slowly they filed out of the pavillion, singly, in couples and in groups, taking with them the memory of a thoroughly enjoyable concert, and a deep regret that that concert was the final one of the season.

The Lumina Orchestra this Summer has been composed of probably the best musicians that have ever gathered in Wilmington or at Wrightsville Beach, and it has become popular accordingly The public here will look forward with pleasure to next Summer when many of the musicians expect to return.

QUICK WORK SAVED STEAMER

Fire Slightly Damaged the German Vessel Elizabeth Rickmers

The timely discovery by Capt. John A. Burriss, of this city, of a small blaze in the engine room of the German steamer Elizabeth Rickmers at the wharf of the Atlantic Coast Line Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock and the splendid work of himself and the crew probably saved the vessel from destruction or serious damage. Capt. Burriss is engaged on the steamer as watchman. The fire was making considerable progress when discovered and Capt. Burriss thinks that in a little while the blaze would have been so great as to have made it exceedingly difficult to save the vessel. The crew of Chinamen was called out and with the aid of a hose the blaze was soon extinguished. The damage to the vessel is slight, said Capt. Burriss in speaking of the fire yesterday.

Secures Positions Here.

Through the kindness of several citizens who assisted th couple, Mr. and Mrs. Knapp, who lost their infant last Friday, soon after their arrival in this city, have secured positions in Wilmington and began work yesterday morning. When they first arrived it was reported that they had come here to carry on a professional begging game, using the child to aid them in this by giving it dope of some kind to make it appear sickly. This is what the pople of Charlotte thought but it appears that they were mistaken. The child was really sick and the couple in bad circumstances. Both have fairly good positions now and have an opportunity to recoup their lost fortunes, for which they are grateful to those who befriended them in their distress and bereavement.

JEWELRY THIEF CAPTURED.

Arthur Dingle, Colored, Arrested in Marion and Brought Back.

Deputy Sheriff A. L. Kelly returned early yesterday afternoon from Marion, S. C., bringing with him Arthur Dingle, colored, charged with the larceny of some jewelry during the Summer from a guest at the Seashore Hotel, Wrightsville Beach, where the negro was employed as a waiter. The preliminary hearing will take place before Justice Harriss this morning.

Dingle was arrested at Marion Saturday and a valuable pearl pin and other jewelry were found in his possession. The negro stated that he found the jewelry at the Seashore Hotel and the chief of police of Marion telegraphed Capt. Edgar L. Hinton, manager of the hostelry, of the finding of the jewelry with the result that a warant was issued here for the negro on a charge of larceny. Officer Kelly went to South Carolina Sunday for his man.

It is said that the jewelry is the property of Mrs. David Evans, of Chicago, who with her daughtr was a guest at the Seashore during the Summer The articles of jewelry which are missing were left by them on the dining room table at breakfast one morning. They returned in a few minutes, but were unable to find the jewelry. Dingle and all the other waiters were questioned and Mrs. Evans offered a reward of $20 for the return of the jewelry, but nothing was heard until the receipt of the telegram announcing the arrest of Dingle at Marion.

TWO SERIOUS CHARGES.

Major Charles, Colored, to be Tried Before Recorder Today.

There was very little doing in the Recorder's court yesterday morning. Major Charles, Ed. Hunter, George Grady and John Grady, colored, were before the court on a charge of disorderly conduct, which was not substantiated by the evidence. Hunter and the Gradys were released, but Charles had to remain for the session today, when he will be tried for the larceny of a pistol and for carrying a concealed weapon. When searched at police headquarters following his arrest Sunday afternoon a pistol was found on his person. The pistol, it is alleged, is the one which was stolen some time ago from Mr. S. D. Bryant and for which offense a warrant was issued at the time for Charles, who left the city and went to Fayetteville, but hied it away from there before the warrant could be gotten to the officers. Mr. Bryant identified the pistol as the one stolen from him. Several drunks were assessed the usual amount.

BEAT WOMAN UNCONSCIOUS

George Blue, Colored, Assaults Lizzie Madison, Also Colored

Lizzie Madison, alias Lizzie Butler, colored, was asaulted and beaten into unconsciousness Sunday evening by George Blue, also colored, near "Green Front," a line of cottages just this side of the intersection of Ninth street with the Coast Line track. The woman is now in the hospital, where her condition is regarded as serious, and her assailant is in the city prison, where he will be held until the woman is able to appear as a witness against him in the Recorder's court.

Blue was captured yesterday morning a short distance from the city by L. T. Tyndall, a sixteen-year-old youth, Young Tyndall, a brother of Deputy Sheriff Louis Tyndall, ran to his home and secured his brother's handcuffs when he saw the negro. He was back in a jiffy and placed the irons on the fellow and brought him down and turned him over to the police. Chief of Police Fowler spoke in the most commendatory terms of the bravery of the young fellow but for whose efforts the crime might have gone unpunished.

It is said that Blue became angered at something the woman said and that he accosted her on the street Sunday evening. Following a short argument he is said to have struck her over the head with a stick, knocking her to the ground, and that he struck her several times while she lay unconscious, fearfully bruising and lacerating her head.

The police were notified of the occurrence and Capt. Geo. W. Smith sent Mounted Officers Haddock and Thomas to investigate. Finding the woman unconscious in the street, the officers notified the James Walker Memorial Hospital and the ambulance was dispatched for her. It was stated last night at the hospital that she was resting very well.

The trial will be held in the Recorder's court as soon as the woman is well enough to attend.

ESCAPES FROM HOSPITAL.

Convict Crawls Down Fire Escape and Takes French Leave.

Irving Chapman, a white convict, sent to the James Walker Memorial Hospital from the county farm a few days ago, escaped from that institutio between 10:30 and 11 o'clock last night by climbing down a fire escape from the second story window. The police were notified immediately after the hospital authorities had learned of the escape and although a lookout was kept for the man, he had not been recaptured late last night.

Chapman was brought to the hospital a few days ago and was said to have been suffering from malaria at the time, although he was not seriously sick. He was left alone in the room a short time last night and when the nurse returned he had made his escape. The police have no recollections of a case against Chapman and it is probable that he was sent up to the Recorder from a magistrate's court. What sentence he was serving or what he was sentenced for was not learned last night.

At a late hour last night Sheriff S. P. Cowan found Chapman hiding in a box car near Lingo box factory. He was brought to the city and lodged in jail for the night.

ANOTHER NEGRO MURDERED

Walter Henry Shot and Killed by James Wilson Near Lingo Box Factory—Quarreled Over Sum of Ten Cents.

Still another negro murder was added to the long list that have occurred in Wilmington and the surrounding vicinity recently, when James Wilson, colored, shot and killed Walter Henry, also colored, with Henry's own shotgun, at the latter's home near the Lingo box factory, in the Delgado section, last night, about 8:30 o'clock, following a quarrel over the trivial sum of ten cents.

Following the shooting, Wilson fled, with the gun still in his possession, and at a late hour last night had not been apprehended, although quite a number of police and county officers were engaged in the search for him.

According to information gleaned by the police and coroner, last night, Wilson and Henry were members of a hunting party yesterday and had returned to Henry's home, where they were assembled in front of the house. According to witnesses, Henry had borrowed 25 cents from Wilson at some time in the past and the men became involved in a dispute over the settlement of the debt, Henry contending that he had paid Wilson 15 cents at one time and 10 at another, while Wilson claimed that he had received the 15 cents, but had never been paid the remaining 10. Henry stood firm in his argument and at last Wilson is said to have pulled a knife and called Henry a d—n lie. On seeing the knife Henry fled around the house, and Wilson seized Henry's shot gun, which he had given to a boy to carry into the house, and ran around the other way to meet the fleeing negro. They came face to face with each other at the back of the house and Henry turned and fled around the house in the opposite direction. When the front of the house was reached, Wilson fired, the load taking effect in the back of Henry's head and neck. The man fell forward on his face, with his mouth and nose buried in the sand, and probably died instantly. Wilson fled with the shot gun. The police were notified and Constable W. B. Savage also received word of the shooting. He notified Sheriff S. P. Cowan, who went at once to the scene of the murder in his automobile, with Deputy Sheriff Harvey Cox, Constable Savage and Jailer Branch. Sergeant E. J. Grimsley and Officer Dew went out in the patrol wagon, and Dr. C. D. Bell, who had also been notified, went to the scene. Later Chief of Police John J. Fowler, Councilman B. C. Moore, in charge of the Department of Public Safety, and Prosecuting City Attorney Geo. L. Peschau went out in Mr. Moore's automobile. Still later, Officers Frank George, Munn, Coleman and Thompson were sent out to join in the search for the murderer. Sergeant Grimsley and Officer Dew returned to the city and the other officers remained and conducted a search for Wilson.

Coroner C. D. Bell viewed the body and summoned a number of witnesses for the inquest which will be held at Delgado this morning at 10 o'clock.

Walter Henry, the slain man, worked at the Lingo box factory. He was only a young negro, being about 23 years of age. A wife survives him.

..Theatrical..

Labor Day was gaily celebrated yesterday at the popular Bijou, and, in spite of the inclement weather, big holiday crowds were on hand. They were more than repaid, because they were given a cozy, comfortable, resting place and a big and bright show. Today's bill is going to be another whopper for both size and merit. Both the dramatic and the ludicrous will play large parts in toda's offerings, which will immensely please all. One of the most heart stirring, as well as picturesque photoplays ever seen will be Melies masterpiece, "The Call of the Wilderness."

Another great film for today is "The Villian Foiled," which tells a most interesting tale of how an unsuccessful suitor gets his successful rival drunk and the outcome. One of the big smile pictures, among the several on today's bill, is "The Baron". It tells in absurd and rib-tickling manner how a discharged waiter becomes a bogus Baron, and the adventures that befall him are simply screams.

AMBASSADOR HILL LEAVING

Makes Statement Before Leaving His Post in Berlin—Luncheon Given Him By German Foreign Minister—President

Berlin, Sept. 4.—The German foreign minister Herr Von Kiderlen-Waechter gave a farewell luncheon today in honor of the American Ambasador, Dr. David J. Hill, who, on Saturday presented his letter of recall to Emperor William.

The luncheon was attended by Representative Richard Batholdt, of Missouri, and C. B. Wolffram, of New ident Taft to the unveiling of the Von ident Taft to he unveiling of the Von Steuben monument at Potsdam; the members of the staff of the American embassy, under secretary of foreign affairs, Herr Zimmermann and several other government officials. The imperial chancellor, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollwek was not present, he having gone to Kiel for the meeting between Emperor William and the Austrian heir presumptive Archduke Franz Ferdinand, at the naval review.

Arbitration was one of the subjects of conversation at the luncheon. Herr Von Kiderlen-Waechter greatly regretted parting with Dr. Hill and accompanied the retiring ambassador to the railroad station where he bade him farewell.

Berlin, Sept. 3.—David Jayne Hill, the retiring American ambassador, on the eve of his departure from Berlin, has broken silence with regard to his resignation which was accepted by President Taft last April. The ambassador gave out a statement today intimating that there had been deliberate intrigue to discredit him and misrepresent the reasons for his resignation.

"I cannot leave Germany," says the ambassador, "without expressing appreciation of the kindness I experienced here, particularly from His Majesty, who generously intimated his wish to confer upon me an honor which the laws of my country forbid me to accept. I have, however, considered it proper to receive from His Majesty as a souvenir of our agreeable relation a piece of porcelain from the royal potteries, and I wish to make a public acknowledgement of this mark of friendship.

"At the time of my resignation in April there was much speculation regarding the reason therefor, and a legend concerning my course in the negotiations between my government and Germany over the potash controversy, was carefully prepared and widely circulated, positively declaring on alleged authority, that my conduct was displeasing to the Department of State. Under such circumstances, the duty of a loyal diplomat is silence, and faithfully I performed this duty.

"I have believed that the American people, careless as they often are of repuations love fair play, and knowing that the official record there would speak the truth at the proper time I have taken no notice of either the source or the motive of these allegations. I have no comment to make upon them.

"On leaving office, six months after my resignation, I believe that it will be a pleasure to the President if I make public at this time an autograph statement made by him some months ago, which should effectually silence and exterminate the legend which certain newspapers have endeavored to keep alive.

"He said: 'I write now to assure you that I never had the slightest reason to criticise your course and service at the very important post of Berlin. You have vindicated your appointment in every way and it has given me pleasure to deny emphatically and categorically that your resignation grew out of any disagreement on the part of the administration with your conduct in this country's relations with Germany in regard to the potash or any other questions. * * *I write this to you for you are entitled to have a full statement as to your satisfactory service, written by him whom you have worthily and well represented at the great capital of Berlin.'"

Ambassador Hill was not willing to indicate more closely the persons he believes were interested in discrediting him.

Balloonist's Countenance Shows Fright Caused by Fall.

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 2.—The body of H. C. Brown, the Lansng, Mich., balloonist, who last night, in the presence of thousands of people at Lakewood Park, fell into the lake and was drowned, was recovered early this morning.

Brown's arms were clasped tightly against his body and all his muscles were rigid. His countenance bore strong evidence of the fright he displayed when he realized that his balloon was falling and that he would land in the water.

GOVERNORS TO MEET

Will Asemble This Year at Spring Lake, N. J.—Business

Spring Lake, N. J., Sept. 3.—For the first time within recent American history the Governors of approximately forty of the forty-six States will meet meet in conference here Tuesday, September 12. Thirty-seven chief executives have accepted the call outright, several from nearby Commonwealths have yet to be heard from and of the small remainder those who can so arrange their duties will attend for, at least, a portion of the time.

The original conference at the White House, held upon call of President Roosevelt in 1907 was attended by thirty-three conferees.

The full five days of the programme will be devoted to discusion of questions now uppermost in the minds of statesmen, while social affairs will be kept in the background. Last year, at Louisville, a round of entertainment was provided, which took so much time that the business of the conference was curtailed. When they adjourned to meet at Spring Lake, the Governors told Governor Wilson that they wanted to come this year for serious business, and would leave the social end to their wives and others who might accompany them.

Accordingly Governor Wilson and the committee have refused to allow any entertainments to be arranged except a reception which he and Mrs. Wilson will give at the State Cottage, at Sea Girt, September 12 and a dinner to be given the following Thursday.

On the programme, which has already been announced, are topics of widespread interest. To the discussion of employers' liability and workingmen's compensation laws an entire day will be given, and the State control of public utilities will be discussed for another full day.

Governor John A. Dix, of New York, will discuss the new inheritance tax law, passed last Winter, and the question of fixing intra-State traffic rates will also be considered at a separate session. Governor Herbert S. Hadley, of Missouri, will be a speaker on this subject.

Added interest to the gathering will be given by the presence of two prominent Democratic Governors, Judson Harmon of Ohio, and Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey. President Taft may be present for one day and adcres the meeting, but this has not yet been definitely arranged.

Governors of the Western States will leave Chicago on Sunday night, September 10, on a special car, which will reach Spring Lake Monday afternoon. Townspeople of Spring Lake are planning a big celebration for that night by way of welcome.

PROSPEROUS ROSE HILL

Township Building Roads—Manufacturing Company Enterprising

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rose Hill, N. C., Sept. 4.—Rose Hill township is the first section of Duplin county to vote bonds to improve her roads. Work is to begin right away. In addition to this, Hallsville, Chinquepin, Harrell's Store, Delway, etc., will connect with the township roads by private subscription. The road to Chinquepin is now under way. E. McN. Carr is the civil engineer in charge of the work and he is making the surveys for an air line which will shorten the distance nearly two miles from Rose Hill to Chinquepin.

The Atlantic Coffin and Casket Co., is taking advanced steps in selling its output by furnishing its traveling salesmen with automobiles. So far the experiment is a success. Our R. F. D. carriers, who are in session here, should take notice and do likewise. A new enterprise for the town that will mean much is a large band saw mill, which rumor persists in locating here in the near future.

There is a great improvement in Rose Hill. The writer's first impression of the place was in 1869. It was simply a bull frog ranch that made music by night and raised peg-horn bull yearlings—a small catfish pond that the natives fed from.

on the Thursday night before the murder.

That it was his wife who suggested the ride on the Midlothian turnpike after they were nearing the Owen home on their return from the drug store where they went to get a prescription filled, was the statement of the prisoner as to the occasion for the ill-fated ride but, when on cross-examination Prosecutor Wendenburg asked the accused if he would have taken his wife riding even if she had not suggested "the spin", Beattie admitted that his "mind was not made up at that time."

Counsel for the defense twisted the prosecution for not putting the girl Beulah Binford, on the witness stand since the State had subpoenaed her. Attorney Harry M. Smith, Jr., of the defense, said that he never had had an opportunity of ven speaking with her as she was kept incommincado in jail, whereupon Judge Watson insurprise delared that if such had been the case, it was wrong, and hereafter counsel for the defense would have every opportunity to confer with the girl.

'Why don't you put her on the stand then?" suggested Prosecutor Wendenburg to Mr. Smith.

"Oh I wash my hands of her. I don't want to have to have anything to do with her".

The prosecution intimated, however, that it would call the girl, and when rebuttal begins tomorrow or the next day, it is practically certain that the Binford girl will be called, particularly to corroberate the testimony of Paul Beattie as to certain messages which he says Henry asked him to deliver to her.

The prisoner depreciated the idea that he in any way loved the girl. The prosecution, however, insisted that in the week before the murder three of Beattie's evenings had been given to the Binford girl as well as the night before the homicide, all of which the prisoner admitted as true.

The prosecution continued to contend that the prisoner sat on his wife's body to conceal it on his flying trip to the Owen home.

Beattie donned the bloody clothes without the slightest change in his manner. With the same equanimity he handled the shotgun which was in evidence.

In his direct testimony today Henry Clay Beatie, Jr., catagorically denied that he took part in or knew anything of the purchase of the shotgun by his cousin, Paul Beattie, with which his wife was killed. He also flatly contradicted almost the entire testimony of his cousin, particularly with regard to the alleged confession in which Henry is supposed to have said to Paul "I wish I hadn't done it."

The witness told the same story, identical even in phraseology with that which the accused told to the coroner's jury, although he admitted today more of his relations with Beulah Binford, following the course of the defense throughout the trial in pointing her out as a disreputable girl for whom the prisoner had only a passing fancy, and for whom he never would have murdered his wife.

After nearly two hours and a half direct examination, the defense rested its case. Then the cross-examination of the prisoner was begun. "Mr. Beattie," said Prosecutor Wendenburg you have been asked by your counsel several questions as to what your testimony was before the coroner——."

"I don't think that was proper, if he did," interrupted Judge Watson.

"But he did, as the record will show. Under the statues of Virginia", continued Prosecutor Wendenburg, "that evidence before the coroner cannot be used against yourself. Now do you waive your right and say that the commonwealth may use the evidence given by you before the coroner?"

Counsel for the defense objected that the question should not be asked before the jury. The court sustained this view and asked the jury to disregard the prosecution's proposition" and not to draw any unfavorable inferences therefrom."

"Now I understand, Mr. Beattie," resumed Prosecutor Wendenburg, "that you met Beulah Binford in August, 1907. When did your illicit relations with her begin?"

"About two weeks after I had met her."

"And continued how long?"

"Until she went to Washington in the Fall of 1908."

"When did you snd her to school?"

"The same Fall. Can I explain?"

"Yes."

"Her people were gong to send her to school, they all thought I'd help them, when I did, not to give her an education for my benefit, but to get her out of the way."

"What do you mean, to get her out of the way?"

"I mean I wasn't educating her because I liked her."

"Couldn't you get her away in any other way?" instead, Mr. Wendenburg?

'Did she have that influence over you that you had to send her away?"

"No."

"Then your relatons continued for some time. When she was 14 years old?"

"Yes."

"Now, when the child was born it was named after you wasn't it?"

"Yes, it was named Henry Clay."

"And when the child died you bought the casket?"

"It was in the store when the funeral director had the bill and I told him the child had been adopted by Mrs. Trout and he said she wouldn't pay it, but turn it over to the city as my child and I naturally didn't want that to happen and paid the bill, thinking that would be the last of it."

"Did you write any letters to Mrs. Binford to sign some paper in reference to the adoption of this child and that if she did not you'd wash your hands of the matter?"

"I can't remember writing it. I thought I had washed my hands of the matter when it was in the lawyer's office."

The prosecutor produced the letter and asked:

"Did you write that letter?"

"I did."

Mr. Wendenburg read: "Mrs. Binford: You can sign the enclosed with your name and address. Please do so at once as this is the last time I will monkey with this business.When you have an answer call up——Henry".

"Did that letter refer to the adoption of the child?"

"From the contents of the letter I think that it does, but when the child was born there was a paper to sign and it may have been in reference to that."

"After the child died, Beulah Binford went away?"

"Yes, after staying at a disreputable house she did."

"Then she was to join her husband, the baseball player, Fisher?"

"I heard so.."

"Didn't you know when you were in Norfolk that she was married?"

"She told me so. "

"The night she arrived in Richmond you joined her, did you not?"

"I saw her that night."

"What did you do?"

"We went out riding, had a few drinks and then Bill Sampson and I went home."

"That was the renewal of your relations with her?"

"Yes."

"Weren't your nights to see her every Monday and Saturday?"

"No. Those were the nights I went out ever since I was married."

"Will you deny being with Beulah toward the end on Monday, Thursday and Saturday?"

"The week before the homicide, I saw her those three nights."

"So three nights belonged to Beulah.?"

"So three nights belonged to Beulah?"

"I had been with her but I don't know as they belonged to her"

"On Thursday preceding the homicide, when did you join her?"

"About a quarter to nine."

"How long did you remain with her?"

"Until 12 o'clock, I reckon."

"Where did you go that night."

"went out riding."

"Took her out to the country?"

"Yes."

The prisoner denied that he either saw or telephoned Paul Beattie on Thursday night, and he might have seen Paul the week preceding.

"Did you ever phone Paul at any time to meet you at Short and Main streets?"

"No, sir."

"Did you, ever go to McEvoy's bar bar room?"

"No I don't know where McEvoy's bar room is. I'm pretty certain that on Saturday, which was the only night I was with him, I didn't take any drink with him."

"Didn't you go to the 'phone that night?"

"Yes. I tried to get a number but didn't."

"Whose number was it?"

"Beulah Binford's."

"Didn't you say over the 'phone——'Meet me at Short and Main streets in a few minutes.?"

"No sir."

"Why were you solicitious that your friends shouldn't know about the Binford girl?"

"I didn't want them to know it. No man would."

"Paul has testified that after you left cEvoy's on Thursday you took him home."

"I didn't see him any night except Saturday."

"Then your denial covers all that Paul has testified to as to what you did that Thursday night?"

"Yes."

"Now, if John Joseph, owner of the place on the corner of Short and Main, and John Britton with him, would testify that they saw you on Thursday night before the murder, and if a lady, Mrs. Nolan, who was sitting on the porch that night, would testify that you came to Paul's home on Thursday night, and Mrs. Beattie would testify likewise, would you still say that you were not with Paul that night?"

"Yes, sir. There was only one night I coulr have possibly been in McEvoy's and that was Saturday night, and I'm pretty sure I wasn't there then."

"That's the night Paul says you gave him instructions about the gun, isn't it?"

"So he said."

"On Saturday night Paul came to your store?"

"About 7 or 8 o'clock. I didn't notice him. I just happened to see him there."

"What time did you leave the store that night?"

"About 10:20 or 10:25 o'clock."

"Do you deny leaving a Mr. Fortune, to whom you were showing a pair of shoes for his child, to speak to Paul?"

"Yes."

"Do you deny talking to Paul then?"

"Yes."

"After the store closed Paul was waiting for you wasn't he?"

"I was lighting the lights on my car when he came up. He asked me where I was going and I said into Richmond and he said he was going there so I took him along."

"Had you ever before taken Paul or his wife out riding?"

"No."

"Then you took him from Manchester to Richmond that night?"

"Yes."

"Didn't Paul carry packages or messages to Beulah Binford for you?"

"About three years ago I sent a package by him."

"What was in it?"

"I don't remember."

"You never asked Paul to carry any messages either?"

"No."

"Didn't Paul come over often to the store?"

"Yes, and we use to watch him, too."

"You are trying to blacken Paul as much as you can, aren't you?"

"No, I'm telling the truth and can prove it by every clerk in our store."

"When you took Paul home on Saturday night what did you say about Beulah Binford?"

"I told him to call up Beulah Binford, under the name of Mrs. Fisher, and say that I would be there in a few minutes."

"What did you say about not 'phoning if your people were near?"

"I said that.'

"Did you ever see Beulah's diary that she began to keep after she got back to Richmond?"

"I believe I did. I think I glanced through it."

"Where were you then?"

"I don't know where it was.

The prosecution produced the diary.

"Were you in love with Beulah from the time she came from Norfolk until the time of the death of your wife?"

"I never loved her."

"Was she in love with you?"

"I can't speak for her."

"Did she write you so in her diary?"

"I don't know; she may have."

"Did the diary give expressions of her feelings toward you?"

"I really don't know what is in there."

"Have you forgotten?"

"Yes sir."

"Wasn't that diary kept for the purpose of writing you a note every day?"

"I never received it if she did."

"You saw this diary and it gave expression o her feelings toward you?"

"Yes."

Regarding the admissibility of the diary the court ruled that it should come "from the sworn statement of Beulah Binford."

"I do not think that book is testimony," concluded Judge Watson.

"Can you recall the last time you glanced into that diary—"

"Your honor," asked Mr. Carter, for the defense, "can they go any further with the diary?"

"No," said the judge.

"What was Beulan's pet name for you when she addresed you?"

'Henry."

"Did she call you 'My Darling Henry?'"

"No sir, not in personal conversation."

Mr. Wendenburg produced the "dear Sid" letter concerning the purchase of furniture for the Binford girl, enclosing a $10 check and the witness admitted writing it. It was dated July 14th or four days before the murder.

"Didn't you on Thursday after the homicide deny to Detective Scherer that you had sent Beulah any money or had aided her in any way.

"Yes."

"Were you asked about that?"

"I don't remember."

"In the presence of Dr. Loving, Sergeant Wrenn and Detective Wiltshire did not Detective Sherer ask you concerning the money."

"If he had I would have told him. I told all I knew."

"In your 'Dear Kid' you asked Beulah to get an itemized bill of the furniture what must be paid each week?"

"Yes."

"Why was that?"

"I thought she might say the bill was larger than it was?"

"'With oceans of love.' What do you mean by that?"

"Nothing. Just gush or taffy."

"'Brimming with kisses.' Wnat do you mean?

"Well, few men are with a girl of that kind and don't kiss her. It's not a cold-blooded act."

"The fact is that on July 14th, you were making preparations for an independent home for her?"

"I wasn't making any more preparations than the rest of them."

"She couldn't stay with her sister or mother. Her sister wouldn't walk down the main street with her?"

"Didn't take Beulah and her sister to her uncle's in your machine just before her uncle died?"

"Yes, but that was at night, when no one could see me."

"At a quarter to ten o'clock on the Saturday night before the murder it was testified by Paul that he gave you the gun. Now, if you took Paul home at 10:20, you must have gotten the gun then?"

"I didn't get any gun fro mhim."

"What time did you get to Paul's house that night?"

"About a quarter to eleven."

"Didn't you pay for a long distance message from your store to Billy Sampson, then go over to the telephone office to get them to take the name off?"

"Yes."

"Why was that?"

"I didn't want any name on the bill."

"The message was about preparatios to go ton Norfolk?"

"I don't remember."

The prisoner admitted that he paid a physician's bill for Beulah Binford at her request.

The testimony shifted to the night of the tragedy.

"Where did the highwayman have the gun hid?"

"I do not know that he had it hid. I didn't see it until he raised the gun and pointed it at me."

"What reason could that man have for murdering you or your wife?"

"None, that I know of. Might have been trying to scare me. He might have been drunk."

"Was he staggering?"

"He swerved in the road, but that wasn't necessarily because he was drunk."

"There was no provocation given by you, was there?"

"None, that I know of, unless I might have tried to prevent him from going across the road."

"How far from you was the man?"

"I can't say. I know that I had to stop short not to hit him. If I hadn't stopped I would have been in some jail to answer for it."

"When the man in front of your car made the threat what did your wife say?"

"Nothing."

"She went to her death in silence."

"I reckon she had enough confidence in me to handle the situation."

"Was your wife looking at the man?"

"I don't know."

"Didn't the wound show it?"

"Yes."

"You mean to say she didn't scream?"

"No."

"Even when the gun was pointed at her?"

"It wasn't pointed at her. I thought he was pointing it at me and when the car jerked forward and I bent down, he fired at uer."

"What reason did he have to open it at her?"

"I thought he was trying to shoot above my head to scare me."

"What did the man say?"

"Nothing."

"What did he do?"

"He starteu to hit me with the gun, when I got to the rear of the car."

"You say he was a powerful man?"

"He was a large man, and probably powerful."

"You say you started towards the man; what for?"

"To fight, I reckon."

"Did you fight?"

"Well, as I say, I fell down after getting the gun, and the man was up the road."

"After you captured the gun, your first thought was of your wife?"

"Yes."

"Then, after you got the gun, you were satisfied, and gave up all pursuit of the man?"

"I saw him going up the road, and thought of my wife."

The witness said he could not have re-loaded the gun which he secured in time to shoot the highwayman.

"Did the man run?"

"Yes.

"Very fast?"

"I couldn't tell. I could only see a yard or so."

"So you fell to the ground, after getting the gun, and the man saw you on the ground, and yet ran?"

"Which part of the gun struck you on the nose?"

"The stock."

"Then, as soon as you picked up the gun you put it in the rear of the car? Then you went to your wife, who needed your assistance—"

"We object!" sair Mr. Carter.

Judge Watson ruled out the question because the witness had stated previously that he did not know that his wife was dead until Dr. Mercer told him at the Owen home.

"Didn't you tell Mr. Tom Owen, when you reached the house, that you were held up and that your wife had been killed?"

"I said she was 'shot'."

The witness related how his wife fell between his back and the seat, after being shot, and Prosecutor Wendenburg produced the shirt worn by the prisoner that night and asked him why there was no blood between the shoulders on the back.

"I must have had my coat on." said Beattie.

"Well, put this coat on," said Mr. Wendenburg, and the accused donned the brownish coat which he wore on the night of the murder.

"Turn your back to the jury," said the prosecuting attorney. "No spots of blood are visible on the back of your coat. How do you account for that?"

"I didn't say she touched me."

"Do you mean to say the head did not droop towards you?"

"I jumped out, immediately, and maybe this blood beside the pockets came from that."

"When you returned to the machine, how did you place her?"

"I put her head in my seat and the lower part of her body against me, and felt her pulse, and hollered for help."

"I want you to explain how you placed the body across the seats."

"Well, her head was in one seat and her body in the other, and her feet must have been dangling outside the car. If you lay down here, Mr. Wendenburg, I'll show you just how it happened."

Court adjourned at 6 o'clock, to convene tomorrow at 9:15 A. M., earlier than usual.

FRANK A. GOTCH AGAIN CHAMPION

After trying vainly for several hours to go to sleep, he arose and pleaded with his trainers to give him drugs that would make him rest. They refused to do this and Hackenschmidt continued to fret the night away.

In the minds of the vast crowd that saw the match there was no doubt as to which was the better wrestler. Gotch outpointed, outgeneraled and outgamed his opponent. The Iowan appeared faster than he ever has before. His condition was perfect. He entered the ring filled with confidence, never once did he lose non challance. At every stage of the bout he smiled as though he never had the slightest doubt as to the ultimate outcome.

On the other hand, Hackenschmidt seemed ill at ease. During the first fall he did his work with his face set and had anything but the glint of confidence in his eye And after Gotch had gained the first fall the courage of the Russian appeared to have oozed out of him. With shoulder stooped and eyes downcast, he sat in his corner awaiting the starting signal.

In a box in the center of the grand stand, sat Gotch's mother and his young bride. Frequently while in the thickest of the fray, Gotch found time to look toward the two women and smile.

Hackenschmidt was heartbroken over the result of the bout. In his dressing room for half an hour he sat in his wrestling garb crying and refusing the proffered attentions and cheering words of his trainers.

Gotch only smiled after the match was over. He said the result was exactly as he thought it would be.

The story of the actual wrestling that was done is soon told. Time was called at 3:15 o'clock. The contestants immediately locked heads and began feeling each other out. For five minutes they tugged at each other's wrists and arms, but neither obtained a dangerous hold.

It was Gotch who first turned attention to the legs. He made several fake passes at Hackenschmidt's knees before he finally obtained a knee at the end of eight and a half minutes. Once the Iowan's massive hands were fastened on Hackenschmidt's left leg the Russian went down. He struggled out of that and a subsequent hold of the same kind and then became the aggressor. After ten minutes Hackenschmidt secured a body hold and put Gotch to the mat. He was down only an instant.

After 14 minutes of wrestling Gotch started Hackenschmidt downward with a knee hold, faked a crotch and then quickly worked the Russian into a half Nelson. They struck the mat together head to head. Then Gotch pivoted on his opponent's stomach, clamped on a reverse body hold, and the first fall was over.

The first five minutes of the second fall was a repitition of that period in the first. But suddenly Gotch reached down with his right hand, grasped Hackenschmidt's left ankle and unbalanced the lion.

While Hackenschmidt was trying to regain his equilibrium Gotch struck the lion's injured leg with his right knee and the Rusian crumpled into a heap upon the canvas. Instantly Gotch was on him with the powerful right hand locked upon the underman's left toe. Hackenschmidt screamed a couple of times, rolled over on his shoulders and gave up.
